ASPR Definitions

- “Health Security” is the protection of the public from health threats having potential large scale economic or national security implications. Health security is achieved through the application of public health preparedness and medical preparedness.
- “Public Health Preparedness” is defined as the capability of the public health system, communities, and individuals, to prevent, protect against, quickly respond to, and recover from health emergencies, particularly those whose scale, timing, or unpredictability threatens to overwhelm routine capabilities.
- “Medical Preparedness” is defined as the capability of the health care system to prevent, protect against, quickly respond to, and recover from health emergencies, particularly those whose scale, timing, or unpredictability threatens to overwhelm routine capabilities.
